HAPPY EASTER! That's not exactly what the hand means as a motorist in Skokie, Ill., brushes snow from his car after the city was buried under a 12-inch snowfall Thursday. Air Traffic Unit Plans Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — An air traffic controllers organization has issued a call for a nationwide walkout of its members, which if carried out could tieup airline flights during the Easter weekend rush.

"The issue is no longer fatigue by traffic controllers but safety," attorney F. Lee Bailey, executive director of PATCO, the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, said Thursday night.

He called for "everyone to walk out of every Federal Aviation Administration facility" until the FAA rescinds an order transferring three traffic controllers from Baton Rouge, La.

Responding to Bailey's statement, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association, representing the airline industry, said the FAA has had in effect since Tuesday special procedures "to ensure the continued safe and orderly flow of air traffic."

The industry's nationwide communications system is used to provide airline operating centers with latest information on routings, delays and air traffic capacity, the spokesman said.

A spokesman for PATCO said the call applied to approximately 8,500 controllers nationwide. The controllers are the men who serve as traffic cops in airline travel.

PATCO claims to represent half the nation's 14,000 controllers.

The FAA declined comment on Bailey's call, issued on the heels of a two-day slowdown and sick-calll action by air controllers. Despite the controllers' demonstration, travel Thursday was slow, but posssible.

Bailey said the FAAA "now proposes to use rusty old men who are completely out of touch with current requirements." In view of the agency's attitude, he said, "I don't want to even talk to them."

He suggested the only way to get dissident controllers and the government together would be through a middle man—and he said the Labor Department would fill the requirement.

The FAA had no immediate comment on Bailey's statement.

Florida Flooded By Heavy Rains

BEAN CITY, Fla. (AP) — Spring rains hitting in Florida's dry season have flooded thousands of acres of pasturelands, imperiling crops across the nation's winter salad bowl.

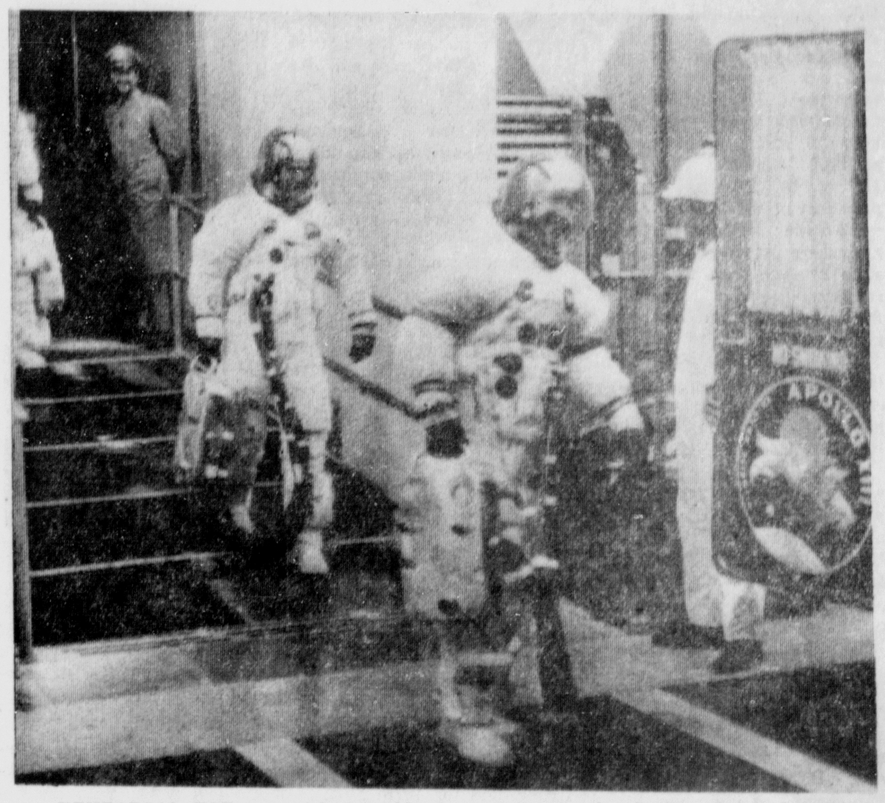

With the rain still falling today, flood control authorities warned more lands were likely to go underwater.

Agricultural officials from Fort Myers, on the Gulf Coast, to Palm Beach, on the Atlantic side, cautioned growers to take steps to save their crops and livestock as the cultivated areas and pastures grew soggier.

The area between Fort Myers and Palm Beach produces the bulk of the nation's winter produce.

Downpours that began late Wednesday had dumped 14 inches of rain on Hobe Sound by Thursday night and nearly 10 inches in Stuart.

Fort Myers, where the March rainfall averages less than three inches, recorded more than eight inches in a 25-hour period —pushing the month's total to 18.

Reds Begin Offensive Into Cambodia: Heng

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia's provisional chief of state Cheng Heng, charged today that Vietnamese Communists have launched an "offensive" against his government, forcing border villagers to listen to a tape recording of deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk calling for guerrilla warfare.

Sell Rice To Reds

Cheng Heng also said the Viet Cong are forcing villagers to sell rice to Communist troops in Cambodia.

The government radio reported a group of youths egged on by the Viet Cong attacked government offices on Thursday in the provincial capital of Kampong Cham, 35 miles northeast of the capital, burned documents and commandeered a convoy of trucks to Phnom Penh.

The broadcast said Cambodian troops, aided by the people arrested the youths as they arrived at the outskirts of Phnom Penh.

Offices Sacked

The broadcast said the demonsrators "sacked the offices of the Government of Salvation, burned documents, ransacked government headquarters and then forcibly took trucks to go to Phnom Penh. "The demonstration was intended to show that the Cambodian people are against the Government of Salvation, . . . but the maneuver of the Viet Cong failed."

The Government of Salvation is the name the new regime has given itself.

All Routes Closed

Phnom Penh was under heavy security. All major routes to and from the city were closed by tanks. More troops were stationed at the airport, which was closed indefinitely to civilian aircraft.

There was no explanation for the closing of the airport, but there was speculation it was in connection with the departure for the staffs of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong embassies.

Relations Suspended

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong said Thursday they were suspending relations with the leaders who overthrew Sihanouk, and Deputy Premier Sisowath Sirik Matak said an attack by the thousands of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops on the Cambodian side of the border "could not be ruled out."

Many Quitting

Champagne Days Over For Nation's Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The champagne days of the Apollo adventure are over and America's current corps of astronauts—one of the most elite groups of pilots ever assembled—is beginning to break up.

One by one, the spacemen who took man's first step toward the stars in the Apollo program are moving into industry and other government jobs.

Walter M. Schirra Jr., the irrepressible, sly wit who commanded three space voyages, is already gone. So, too, are William A. Anders, one of the first three men to circle the moon, and Michael Collins, the Apollo 11 astronaut who waited in moon orbit while his crewmates made the first moonwalk.

Apollo 8 commander Frank Borman, who flew with Anders around the moon, leaves this summer. Sources say L. Gordon Cooper Jr., a two-time space veteran, also will leave very soon. Apollo 9 commander James A. McDivitt is still in the space program, but doesn't plan to fly again. James A. Lovell Jr., who was the third Apollo 8 crewman, said recently he would drop from the astronaut ranks after his flight as Apollo 13 commander next month.

Others in the space corps also plan to leave, but are waiting for a possible chance to be named to the shrinking number of space flights planned.

High paying job offers come in monthly. Many firms are anxious to hire the engineering, piloting and management skills that the space agency spent millions to develop in its astronauts. Many firms also are anxious to hire the names which made headlines around the world.

If Cooper leaves this summer, Alan B. Shepard Jr. will be the only one of the original seven astronauts left in the active ranks. Shepard, the first American in space, was grounded until recently by an ear problem, but is commander of Apollo 14.

A severe cut in the space budget and a spreading out of the moon flights has created doubt about the long-range future of the space business.

During the peak days of the Gemini program and the final push for the moon in the Apollo program, flights were coming at three and four month intervals, and almost every astronaut knew he had a chance to fly.

Moon flights now are spaced six months apart, however. And for the first time the end of the Apollo program is clearly in view.

Apollo 13, 14 and 15 already have crews named. That leaves four flights to the moon, with the last in 1974.

Current planning calls for no moon flights from late 1972 until early 1974. During this period, the space agency plans to place an orbiting laboratory in space. This laboratory may be manned three times with three-man crews, if the space budgets permit.

As a result, between now and the end of the Apollo program, there appear to be 21 flying jobs to be divided somehow between 54 astronauts.

Apollo 16 through 19 will carry a very heavy emphasis on scientific exploration. Officials have said that on two of these flights there probably will be one of the scientist—astronauts, the 13 spacemen selected for educational background alone.

Another Probe Set In Kopechne Case

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The Dukes County grand jury will make an independent inquiry into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident which took the life of Mary Jo Kopechne last summer on Chappaquiddick Island.

The grand jury will go into session April 6.

The session is being called at the request of Leslie H. Leland, foreman of the grand jury and a druggist in Vineyard Haven.

Convening of the jurors became official Thursday when Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro of the Massachusetts Supreme Court announced he would assign a Superior Court judge to open the session.

Leland's request for the special session had been forwarded to the chief justice by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford.

It was Dinis who called for the inquest into Miss Kopechne's death which was conducted in Edgartown in January. That four day hearing was held in secret on order of the state Supreme Judicial Court, which also ordered the transcript of the testimony and the report of presiding Dist. Court Judge James A. Boyle to be kept secret until all possibility of any further prosecution in connection with the case is ended.

Leland said he asked for the special session to look into the Kennedy accident "because I feel that I have duties and responsibilities as the foreman of this grand jury and I intend to exercise them."

Leland said he had talked with Dinis and asked him to act as legal counsel to the jury in its inquiry.

Under Massachusetts law grand juries have broad powers while in session, and can call any witnesses members want to hear.

Leland said he expected the grand jury first to issue subpoenas for the transcript and the report of Judge Boyle, which are impounded in the Suffolk Superior Court in Boston.

Leland said it was uncertain whether Sen. Kennedy and 25 or so other witnesses who appeared at the inquest would be recalled to the island to appear before the grand jury.

That would depend on whether the transcript and judge's report were made available to the grand jury, he said.

Are Reds After Algerian Base?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visit to Algeria by the Soviet Union's top admiral has raised the possibility the Russians are negotiating for use of a major base in the western Mediterranean.

Admiral S. F. G. Gorshkov's appearance in Algiers follows statements by U.S. admirals in Congress that the Russians appear to be seeking additional Mediterranean ports.

The Soviet navy, which currently has one of its largest forces ever in the Mediterranean, already has access to port facilities in Egypt and Syria. Like these two nations, Algeria considers itself a friend of the Soviet Union.

Use of the Mers-el-Kebir port near Oran would free the Soviet navy from reliance on at sea resupply and give them a refit and maintainence base in the western Mediterranean, similar to facilities available to them in the eastern area of the sea.

The Pentagon reported Thursday the Russian fleet in the Mediterranean increased over the past week by about 30 per cent.

About 60 surface warships, submarines and support vessels are now in the Mediterranean—the largest number in about seven months, officials said.

News About Captured Son Cheers Wisconsin Mother

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—The widowed mother of a U.S. Air Force pilot listed as a prisoner in North Vietnam says she is cautiously optimistic about receiving the first letter from her son during his 3½ years of captivity.

Beatrice Neuens said in Iron Mountain Thursday that a member of the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen called her from New York earlier this week to say a letter from Capt. Martin J. Neuens, 27, of Aurora, Wis., would be sent to her soon.

Praying For Years

"I'll be very happy if I can get a letter from him,' she said Thursday, "I've been praying for that for years."

Neuens' name was among those of 34 American pilots said to be prisoners of war in North Vietnam, according to a statement released by the committee Thursday. A spokesman for the group said the names were contained in a letter from Hanoi officials, who said a package of letters from captured airmen was en route to the United States.

Shot Down In 1966

Mrs. Neuens said her son was shot down over North Vietnam August 12, 1966, while flying an F-105 on a combat mission. She said he had been sent to Vietnam in June of that year.

Told that Pentagon officials say the peace group's effort to contact the servicemen's families is a "transparent, cruel effort to extract political gains from the misery and anguish of the families," Mrs. Neuens responded:

"That remains to be seen. I think if there is any harrassment to join the peace group, then I believe it is cruel, but so far I've only had this notification that there is a letter on the way."

She says she has had no official notification from government sources that her son is a captive or that a letter has been sent, but added she read in a newspaper last August that her son's name had been removed from the Pentagon's missing-in-action category and put on the prisoner of war list.

Neuens attended four years at the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs after he was graduated from Kingsford High School in 1960.

All-American Boy

His cousin, Jake Neuens, deputy sheriff in nearby Aurora, Wis., described the airman as "a good all-American boy, something you very seldom see nowadays." He said Neuens was levelheaded and quiet. He said Neuens' father died when he was under 10 years old.

Mrs. Neuens said she thought her son believed in U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

"I don't know of any doubts he had about the war," she said.

Attache Freed; Feared Death

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — An American air attache freed Thursday night in exchange for 19 political prisoners said he had no doubt his captors would have killed him "without the slightest twinge of conscience" if they had deemed it necessary.

"It was an ideological thing," Lt. Col. Donald J. Crowley told a news conference shortly after his release from two days as a hostage.

The 48-year-old Texan appeared in good shape, though tired, and said his captors treated him well. He was freed near the field where he was seized by armed men Tuesday morning as he arrived for polo practice. He was the third U.S. official kidnaped since September in the wave of Latin-American political abductions.

Crowley said six young men each armed with a machine pistol, pulled him from his car and forced him to lie down on the back seat of their car.

The colonel said he was kept blindfolded all during his captivity except for two brief occasions when he wrote letters his captors dictated.

During his detention, Crowley said, he could hear the men voicing "highly anti-American" and "very far to the left" opinions.

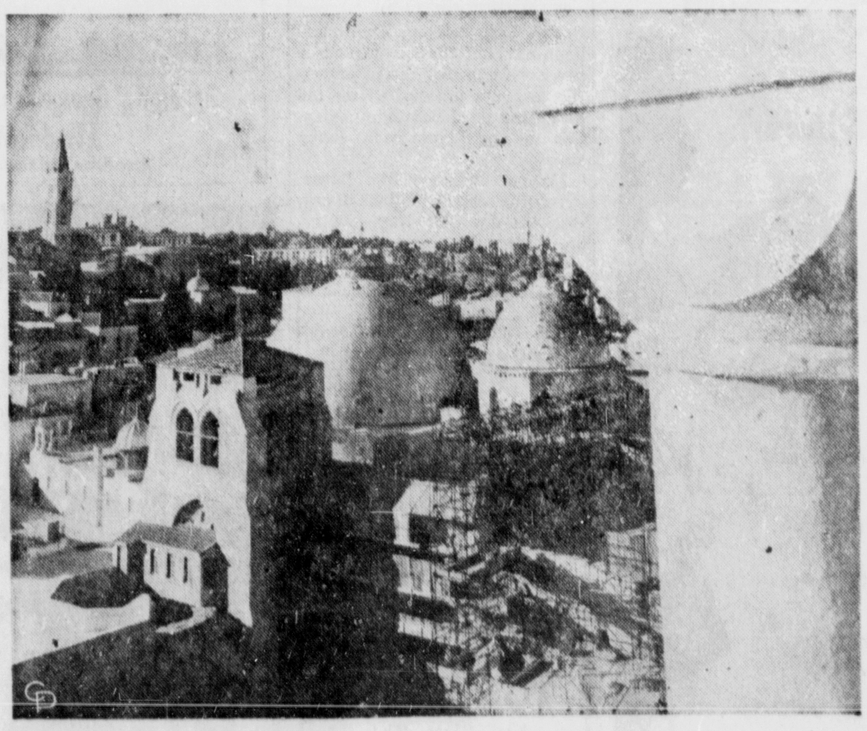

Lt. Col. Donald Crowley

Crowley said he was let go after a half-hour drive from his place of confinement. He was dropped off in the street near the St. Thomas Aquinas Seminary. Recognized by a traffic policeman, he was taken to national police headquarters and from there to the Mexican Embassy.

In accord with the agreement between the government and the kidnapers, he was held at the embassy until word was received from Mexico of the safe arrival there of the 19 political prisoners freed in exchange for him.

Medical Society To Host Program In Escanaba

Because doctors find it increasingly difficult to leave their offices, the Michigan State Medical Society will bring a postgraduate educational program into Escanaba, May 19.

"It is imperative that physicians keep up to date on the many new developments, so the Medical Society has scheduled 16 such programs this spring," explains Robert J. Mason, M. D., Birmingham, president of the Medical Society. Another series of fall programs are presented across the state in addition to several conferences held throughout the year in larger communities.

Cooperating to offer the various programs are the county medical societies, the medical schools, and the state health department.

Medical school professors will be sent to the Upper Peninsula on the following schedule: Escanaba, May 19, 2 p. m.; Houghton, May 18, 3:30 p. m.; Iron Mountain, May 20, 2:30 p. m.; Ironwood, May 19, 3:30 p. m.; Menominee, May 20, 3:30 p. m.; Sault Ste. Marie, May 18, 3:30 p. m.

The educational effort is under the leadership of the MSMS Committee on Postgraduate Medical Education with H. A. Towsley, M. D., Ann Arbor, as chairman.

Nelson To Seek 107th District Legislative Seat

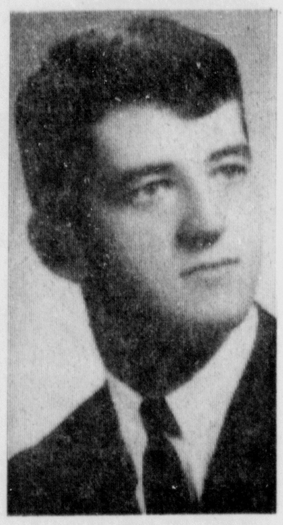

Charging that the 107th District "has not been represented properly in the past and it's time to send a new face and a clean slate to Lansing," Michael J. Nelson of Escanaba today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state representative.

The seat is presently held by Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique), who is serving his second term.

"The problems of this district are immense and only a young, fighting representative can hope to cope with these problems in a district that is so large in territory," Nelson said.

"The U. P. needs a representative that will vote for the best interests of the people in this district and not for certain, small minorities."

A "Nominate Nelson" drive will begin shortly under the direction of campaign manager Albert G. LaFave of Escanaba. Petitions will be circulated and filed to place Nelson's name on the ballot for the primary election Aug. 4.

Michael J. Nelson

First Candidate

Nelson is the first announced candidate for 107th District representative from either party. Varnum has not yet indicated whether or not he will seek reelection.

Nelson, 404 Lake Shore Dr., was born in Escanaba, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy J. Nelson of Powers. He graduated in 1965 from Powers-Spalding High School and attended Bay de Noc Community College. He is presently a senior at Northern Michigan University and expects to graduate in June with a bachelor of science degree in political science.

Employed Locally

He also is employed as assistant manager of the Bowl-A-Rama and works with the Escanaba recreation department as a supervisor of the Danforth Ski Hill and other city-sponsored activities.

Nelson is married and is the father of one child.

He is a member of the Community Indoor Ice Arena Corp. board of directors, served as master of ceremonies at the Ice Arena telethon, and also is a member of the Executive Board of the Delta County Democratic Committee and its past secretary. He is a member of Escanaba Elks Lodge 354, Teamsters Local 328 of Escanaba and of St. Patrick's Church.

Census Forms To Be Mailed

Questionnaires for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing will be distributed by the Post Office beginning Saturday to all households in this area, District Manager, Mrs. Robert Hansley announced.

Distribution of this form before the start of the house-to-house canvass gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member and about the house in advance of the census taker's visit. Mrs. Hansley urged all residents to fill out the forms and have them ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The census taker will check the questionnaire to see that all questions have been answered and will give any assistance needed in filling out a questionnaire that is incomplete. At every fifth household, the census taker will seek answers to additional questions covering population and housing characteristics that are being asked of a 20 per cent sample of the Nation's population.

The District Manager pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is kept confidential under Federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published. No individual person can be identified in published reports and census information cannot be given to any other Government agency, local officials, tax collectors, police, health, welfare, or school officers, nor to anyone else.

Tremor Shakes Marquette Area

MARQUETTE—A 15-minute earth tremor swayed many homes and office buildings on the southern edge of Marquette Thursday morning. No damage was reported.

State Police said the tremor may have been caused when a massive ice breakup on Lake Superior pushed chunks of ice onto the shore. The tremor began about 10:55 a. m.

The tremors were reported along U. S. 41 between the Marquette Prison and the Department of Natural Resources headquarters.

Robert Brown, radio operator at the Marquette State Police Post, said large fissures were occurring in the ice and piling it up along the shore.

Dorias J. Curry, regional manager of the DNR, said "We were undergoing some rather severe earth tremors. There was a definite sway in the headquarters building, both east and west and north and south. Venetian blinds and windows rattled, but there was no damage."

Mrs. Ben Luoma, wife of the deputy warden of the prison, whose residence is next to the DNR headquarters, reported the entire house was shaking.

Brown said the U. S. Weather Bureau office advised him it had no record of any unusual weather conditions prevailing here at the time.

"It was all kind of weird," Brown commented.

Project Outreach Showing Posters At Marquette

Both the medium and the message have traveled far from the famous "I Want YOU!" recruiting poster of World War I.

Today, the fine art poster is enjoying unprecedented popularity. Major contemporary artists are creating imaginative designs for important events sponsored by cultural institutions.

As a result, 40 examples of "The Art of the Poster," are now showing in Marquette under auspices of Project Outreach.

The special exhibition has been organized by the Detroit Institute of Arts for display in Outreach cities throughout Michigan. Marquette is the only participating Upper Peninsula community.

Olson Gallery at Northern Michigan University is the site of the exhibition, which includes works by turn-of-the-century antecedents Toulouse-Lautrec, American John Sloan, and Alphonse Mucha, as well as by a Who's Who of contemporary artists: Chagall, Lichtenstein, Matisse, Miro, Rivers, Stella, Trova, Warhol and others.

The exhibition, which opened Monday, will continue through April 25 with the exception of Easter holidays. It closes at noon today and will reopen Monday, April 6. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Admission is free.

Save Sylvania Group Expands

Donald Quinn of Escanaba has announced the formation of a Michigan chapter of the Save Our Sylvania Action Committee (SOSAC) in the wake of what he called "tremendous support from people in Michigan."

Quinn, who is chairman, has been a member of SOSAC since its beginning last year. He said the new group was formed to handle the requests of Michigan residents in favor of maintaining the wilderness quality of Sylvania, a 19,000 acre tract in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, located in Gogebic County.

"We have enough support in the Upper Peninsula and in Lower Michigan to justify a separate division designed to get their story to the public," Quinn said.

Quinn pointed out that while the Michigan chapter will be distinct from the present SOSAC organization based in Green Bay, his group would have the support of the parent organization's scientific and legal branches.

Other officers in the Michigan SOSAC group include Robert Estabrook of Marquette, who will serve as vice-chairman of the Upper Peninsula, and Bruce Bowersox of Vicksburg, regional vice-chairman for Lower Michigan.

In addition to continuing its battle with the Forest Service to maintain the quality of the Sylvania tract, SOSAC has appointed watchdog committees to observe and record the effects of development in other undeveloped areas in the Upper Peninsula.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Some Banks Critical Of Interest Rate Cut

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) It was the Bank of America's strength that made this week's reduction in the prime interest rate stick.

Irving Trust Co. made the first announcement at 11:45 Wednesday, catching most other banks by surprise. They showed it, too. Many were visibly irritated and critical. They were suspicious of Irving's motives.

Cut Premature?

The chief criticism was that any reduction from 8.5 to 8 per cent in the basic lending rate was premature. Demand for loans still was high, and some banks were turning away as many customers as they were serving.

Moreover, industry has been making clear its intentions to go on a spending spree if it could get its hands on some money, in order to maintain, modernize and expand plant facilities. Demand for money still is very strong.

Why Lower Rates?

Why, then, lower the prime rate, the bankers wondered? Isn't banking an industry of precise, mathematical logic supposedly devoid of emotional, political, and, very often, even patriotic considerations?

Some bankers today feel that such considerations may have colored the thinking involved in the rate reduction. Speculation among them included these thoughts:

—George Murphy, chairman of Irving, is a friend of President Nixon who at the moment is openly promoting the notion that the economic tide has turned but who is in need of evidence, such as lower interest, to prove his case.

—The Irving Trust annual meeting was to be held at 2:30 that very day in the company cafeteria, an affair that an Irving executive referred to as an ordinarily drab meeting, one that could use some excitement.

Unusual Reasons

Dismiss such speculation as unprovable and you still are left with the conclusion that the decision, unlike every other large-bank decision involving the prime rate in recent months, was made for very unusual reasons.

Murphy conceded it was premature. It was, in other words, not based on the business experience of his bank. The decision was taken, he said, "to assist the Federal Reserve in cushioning recessionary trends . . ."

Murphy declined to elaborate. He feels that what he did was right, an Irving man said. Murphy was not eager for personal publicity, it was explained.

Accept Explanation

A good many bankers are concerned these days about a patriotic image, and they accepted Irving's explanation as in order.

But bankers who do business by the books weren't enchanted. They didn't fall in line; in fact, judging from their words, they hoped Irving would fall on its face and be forced to give up its attempt.

That's where the Bank of America, largest commercial bank in the world, stepped into the picture.

"We realized from early reported comments of some banks," said A. W. "Tom" Clausen, president, "that Irving Trust's move was not likely to precipitate an immediate industry wide decline in rates."

Public Policy Cited

Clausen explained that he, too, felt that for strictly banking reasons, a rate reduction might have been a little early. But there were, he said, "overriding considerations of public policy."

It was for such reasons, he said, "that we determined to immediately put our weight behind the move toward lower interest rates." At that moment there no longer was any doubt Bank of America has clout—$25.6 billion in resources.

Clearly, Bank of America itself was considering a reduction in the prime rate. In recent weeks it had lowered rates on some real estate loans. And Clausen openly forecast a lower prime rate, predicting in Houston this week that the basic lending rate would drop within 30 to 60 days.

Unable to be first, Bank of America nevertheless could take credit for making the reduction stick. And it did take credit.

Development Of C&H Land Ruled Out For Present

CALUMET — Universal Oil Products Company, parent company of Calumet & Hecla, denied it had plans for developing 250,000 acres of land in the Keweenaw Peninsula.

Rumoros had it that Universal was about to begin the development program in the near future but company officials said there were no immediate plan to develop the former C&H property.

Ben Williams, public relations official for Union Oil said, "We would be pleased if recreation developers would come in and take up the slack of the land, but we are not out selling real estate. In fact, we are not doing anything aggressive about the situation at this time."

Sponsor Training For Inspectors

The Hiawatha National Forest is hosting a training session this week in the Pride room of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Building.

The Asphalt Institute of College Park, Md., is providing audio-visual aids with their area men from Lansing and Chicago providing the instruction.

Asphalt inspection is one of several categories in which a Forest Service engineering inspector must be certified before he is qualified to inspect a construction contract. This classroom training is one part of the certification program.

Army Private John J. Sarasin, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Sarasin, Rte. 1, Cornell, was his company's high scorer on the physical proficiency tests held at the end of his basic training cycle at Ft. Campbell, Ky., Feb. 6. Pvt. Sarasin was employed by Northern Michigan Veneer Plant in Gladstone before entering the Army.

Marshall A. Groleau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald T. Groleau, Rte. 3, Rapid River, was promoted to Army specialist five while serving with the 51st Engineer Battalion at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Highway At Last

The occasions have been rare when the Upper Peninsula gets good news out of the State Highway Department in Lansing, but Thursday was one of those rare occasions.

The announcement came that the Highway Commission had "accelerated" the U.S. 2 and 41 four-lane project between Gladstone and Rapid River from the 1973-74 program to this summer. Bids actually will be let in June and construction started. The route will be completed before it previously was scheduled to have been bid.

Exactly what happened to blast the project out of what has almost been a perpetual state of suspension is problamatical. The Mead Corp. expansion undoubtedly was one factor. So was the continued pressure being applied by responsible persons in the U.P. State legislators — Rep. Charles Varnum of Manistique in particular — have had their say. Richard Whitmar, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, focused on U.S. 2. Newspapers have campaigned for the project.

But there can be little doubt that Highway Commissioner Claude J. Tobin of Escanaba played a key role in elevating the project to the present construction status.

Planning for the project may date back as many as 13 years. In 1963, then Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie announced that bids for construction would be taken in 1966 for the Gladstone-to-Rapid River section of a freeway in the "first step in the eventual construction of a freeway across the Upper Peninsula."

The words were welcomed at the time, but when 1966 rolled around the State Highway Department announced that the spring bid-letting had to be delayed until September. In April, 1966, the word came that the project was off until 1969 because of a lack of funds. Before 1969 rolled around, it was delayed again and then last May the Highway Department said the Gladstone-Rapid River job had been rescheduled for the 1973-74 construction program, despite the fact that the right-of-way for the route all had been acquired and battled through the coruts by 1966.

Meanwhile, traffic continued to increase in the area and the road bed on the existing route had deteriorated to such extent that the state was forced to resurface. The resurfacing work eliminated the bumps, but didn't relieve the congestion, especially during the summer months when camper and trailer units, trucks and tourist traffic made the stretch a nightmare.

In all those years, nothing but planning and postponements. Tobin has been on the Highway Commission less than a year. Suddenly, action!

The new four-lane route won't eliminate the congestion for a couple of years until it's completed and opened to traffic, but it will make the residents feel a little better just knowing that there is an end to the problem in sight.

Tobin and all of the other Upper Peninsulans who have worked to bring the project to the construction stage should be commended, but if there is excitement and joy in the realization of one goal there should also be restraint.

As great as the Gladstone-Rapid River four-lane highway will be when completed, it is only a part of the total highway problem in the U.P. Many other routes need improvements and there is still need for freeways running both north-south and east-west to bring the Upper Peninsula in step with the modern, high-speed approach to highway travel evident in other areas of the state.

And so a big "thanks" to the Highway Commission for advancing this project. It's long overdue. Hopefully, the attitudes and effort which brought about acceleration of this project will continue through with other projects.

Peninsula Potpourri

Loss was estimated at $100,000 in a spectacular fire which destroyed the abandoned Schneider Bros. pin mill, a landmark in Marquette. Fire Chief John W. Myers said cause of the blaze is undetermined. The building, constructed in the mid-1920's, was valued at about $50,000 and a large planer was valued in excess of $45,000. There was no insurance.

Production has begun in the Upper Peninsula's only snowmobile plant at Sault Ste. Marie. Demonstration models of the Timberwolf, a four-passenger family model, are being assembled in the Northsport Industries plant. The machine is 10 feet long, weighs about 500 pounds, is equipped with two 15-inch tracks and will be offered with engines of 26.5 and 45 horsepower.

Deep potholes have forced the closing of the northwest-southeast runway of Memorial Airport at Houghton. Authority Chairman Richard Dunnebacke said the runway will be closed for at least a week, depending on thaw conditions, and North Central Airlines has restricted its aircraft from the strip for three weeks. A secondary "crosswind" runway is open.

First of Michigan Corp. of Detroit has purchsed a $3,950,000 electric utility bond issue at Marquette at an average interest rate of 6.4722 percent. Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to acquire and install a second generating unit at Shiras Steam-Electric plant in line with expansion necessary to meet growing municipal power needs. The new 22,840 kilowatt generator will boost the plant's capacity from the present 15,000 kilowatt rating to 38,000 kilowatts.

Lindsay Is 'Available' For Governor's Race

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Before running for mayor of New York City the first time, John V. Lindsay played it coy for a good two months. Now he is playing it coy again while the questions are thrown at him about running for the job of governor in New York State.

Maybe Lindsay doesn't know what to do. He is a Republican, at least nominally, but the Republicans already have a good candidate for governor who goes by the prestigious name of Nelson Rockefeller. As a liberal, Lindsay might have to do some tall talking to get the Democrats to accept him as their nominee for the governor's office as long as there are deserving Democratic liberals around such as Arthur Goldberg. He could of course, run as a Liberal Independent, as he did so successfully in his second go-around for Mayor. The hitch here is that there aren't so many Liberal Independents upstate.

It is a perplexing situation that confronts Lindsay, but clearly he is putting his big toe in the water to see if the temperature is right for some sort of plunge. He acts like a candidate, no matter what he says.

Item one: He has been broadening his base by making common cause with the upstate mayors against the allegedly niggardly Gov. Rockefeller.

New York City has always accused the state government of depriving it of tax money that should be left to take care of urban problems. But now the mayors of Albany, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, and Yonkers, which aren't exactly suburban, have joined the chorus.

The New York City Mayor has done something in his state that has never been done before: He has questioned that old shibboleth which says that New York is two regions, the metropolitan area south of the Westchester County line, and the boondocks, which run all the way from the Bronx to Niagara Falls. On the new map there are the cities on the one hand, and the suburbs on the other. Lindsay has declared in effect that the cities—all the cities—are his constituency.

Item two: Lindsay has a new book out bearing his authorship. Appropriately it is called "The City." Politicians as a rule don't write books just to collect royalties.

Item three: Hardly a day goes by that Lindsay doesn't blast the Nixon Administration for wasting the national substance on such negligible things as defense when it might be giving it to aid the slums. The cracks at Nixon are interrupted only for attacks on Nelson Rockefeller. This keeps Lindsay in the headlines as Mr. Available who stands ready to take over once the conservative tide begins to slacken up a bit.

Item four: Lindsay is more than willing to let Sanford Garelik, the president of his City Council, polish his own image. This could mean that Lindsay doesn't object to seeing the notion cultivated that he would be leaving New York City in good hands if he were to move on to higher things.

Item five: By letting it be noised abroad that he doesn't mind being poised between parties, Lindsay maximizes his worry value. There is no reason, so he seems to be wigwagging, that he couldn't run for governor on a Liberal Party and Independent ticket. This must have an intimidating effect on the more conventional type of candidate who doesn't know how to judge things in a three- or four-party environment.

John Lindsay may ultimately shrink from making the plunge if the water doesn't seem right. But nobody with his ambition can be content with remaining a mayor in a thankless town.

Lindsay took a big entourage to Miami Beach in 1968, hoping for some big spot on the national ticket. If he is playing for national place in 1972, Albany is the indicated way station.

And the recent Lindsay moves all fall into a most cannily conceived pattern.

Funds Okayed For Play Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Phil Ruppe, R-Mich., announced Thursday approval of $1.5 million for funding of the Northern Michigan Rural Concentrated Employment Program through Dec. 31.

The program, sponsored by the Michigan Employment Security Commission, would aid 1,050 disadvantaged persons, placing 600 of them in permanent employment, provide day-care for about 80 children and medical services for nearly 600 persons.

State Judge Sets Up Delinquency 'Class'

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP) — A west Michigan probate judge has an idea which he hopes will stem rising juvenile delinquency.

Beginning April 7, Judge Meyer Warshawsky is setting aside one day each week to counsel youths — law - abiding ones.

As a probate judge, Warshawsky is responsible for handling juvenile offenses along with mundane probate business such as wills, estates and adoptions.

Saying "The buck-passing will stop with me," Warshawsky plans to devote each Tuesday to talking with troubled kids who have not been in trouble with the law, hopefully to prevent them from ever getting into trouble.

Under the plan, youths—up to 19 years old—will be invited to call or visit the court to discuss personal problems. The court's juvenile division will make a quick check to determine if the caller has been in trouble with police. If not, he or she will be connected directly with the judge or sent into his chambers.

Warshawsky said he will try to help if he can or refer the youth to an appropriate agency.

Explaining why he is dedicating his time to helping youths who have stayed out of legal difficulties, Warshawsky pointed out that Van Buren County, which is predominantly rural, spends about $400,000 a year to apprehend and rehabilitate juveniles and youthful offenders and asked:

"Who helps the boy or girl who has been a good citizen when he or she has a personal problem?

"Where and to whom can they turn? If their problem is left unsolved might they not in their disgust and frustration with the Establishment turn to antisocial activities? I believe many young people who find themselves for the first time in trouble with the law drop into that situation because they had a personal problem which they personally could not solve nor could they turn to anyone for assistance."

Warshawsky said he is also interested in helping youths who have run into legal trouble, but they will be handled through the court's probation department.

He said the program for helping troubled kids should not take up more than about one per cent of the county's juvenile delinquency budget, with most of that money to be used for correspondence and telephone calls.

Contract Bridge

BIDDING QUIZ

You are the dealer, neither side vulnerable, and have opened One Spade. Partner responds Two Clubs. What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KQJ63 ♥AJ7 ♦K94 ♣A5
2. ♠AQ986 ♥83 ♦A6 ♣AQ72
3. ♠KJ8752 ♥AJ ♦8 ♣KJ95
4. ♠AQJ94 ♥AJ85 ♦10 ♣KJ6
5. ♠AK9543 ♥7 ♦A3 ♣KQ75

1. Three no trump. This shows 17 to 20 points and a hand well suited for notrump play. A rebid of two notrump would show only 15 or 16 points, and to that extent would be inaccurate. There is a chance for a slam if partner has values clearly in excess of a minimum two club response, and the best way of stirring partner's interest in this direction is by jumping to three notrump.

2. Four clubs. Considering the very good club support and the extra values above a minimum opening bid, there is a good chance for a slam here also. Change the ace of diamonds to the deuce, and you would have a minimum opening bid and would raise two clubs to three.

3. Three clubs. It is more important to immediately show the club support than to rebid the spades. The odds strongly favor partner's bidding again, in which case the spades can be rebid. You lack the high-card values for a jump rebid in either suit.

4. Two hearts. It is quite likely that the contract will eventually be played in clubs, possibly at the six level, but you bid the hearts, before raising clubs, in order to portray the three-suited nature of your hand. Partner is thus made aware of the singleton diamond. Two hearts is a forcing bid because it is a new suit named after a constructive response in the two level.

Partner will not know at this point that the opening bid is well above a minimum, but you intend to clarify this at the earliest opportunity.

5. Four notrump. This is clearly Blackwood and asks partner to disclose the number of aces he has. As soon as partner answers, you will know exactly how far to go with your hand.

Thus, if partner's response is five clubs (no aces) you pass; if he responds five diamonds (one ace), you bid six clubs; if his response is five hearts (two aces), you should have no compunctions about jumping to seven clubs.

The hand is ideal for Blackwood. You are not interested in any factor except the number of aces partner has. Once he replies, the best final contract becomes automatic.

Mother Should Keep Her Cool This Time

Dear Ann Landers: It started when our 16-year-old boy began to shovel snow for this young divorcee who lives in the next block. He gets paid for it. The woman is ten or twelve years older than Donnie. She has two small children.

She moved here about a year ago and seems to be a nice person. Am I foolish to be upset by the boy spending one or two evenings a week in this woman's home? He alway tells me when he is going and so far I have not let him know it bothers me. The boy is very honest.

Why doesn't the woman find company her own age? My Donnie is a healthy, normal boy and I wouldn't be surprised if he was sowing a few wild oats over there. Please tell me how to handle this. — Lansing Mother

Dear Mother: Don't panic. The next time Donnie tells you he is going to visit the woman sit him down for a low-key chat. Let him know he is playing with dynamite but don't threaten, preach or prohibit. If you keep your cool he will probably keep his.

Dear Ann Landers: My best friend was buried yesterday. She was a sophomore, 15 years old. B had pneumonia. It isn't supposed to be fatal anymore — but it killed her just the same.

B was a great girl, full of fun and everyone liked her. She had a way of getting along with people, no matter who. The boys flocked around three at a time. She had her pick of the crowd.

B's parents were very strict. They allowed her only one date a week and the boy had to "pass inspection." If B went out Friday she couldn't go Saturday. Her mother used to say, "You have plenty of time."

B wanted to go to New York for five days during the Christmas holidays. She had saved her baby-sitting money and two of her cousins had permission to go. (They were 16 and 17.) B's mother said, "Not this year. You have plenty of time."

Who knows how much time any of us have, Ann? Please print this letter for other mothers who are making the same mistake. — B's Friend

Dear Friend: What a tragedy that your friend's life ended so soon, but her mother did not make a mistake. She was a wise mother. People who feel they must do everything now because tomorrow may never come invariably regret it. This is a poor philosophy, — a fool's excuse and a trap for the impatient.

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who signed herself: "Tiger's Mistress" scored a bulls-eye. It's my husband she was writing about and she can have him. I've packed his clothes, begged him to leave and even locked him out of the house, but he tells me he can't live without me and the kids and I just have to put up with him until he gets the foolishness out of his system.

I must be as nuts as he is because I love the guy and I'm willing to stand by. Since you printed her letter to me I hope you'll print mine to her — Tiger's Wife

Dear Wife: I have two dozen letters on my desk from other wives who are sure the letter was intended for THEM. Don't fight, girls. He isn't worth it!

Letters To The Press

WAR AND EDUCATION

It's a sad fact when one's government spends millions of dollars to carry on a useless war and for the bouncing of men on the moon, but only a measly amount for good education. "Plain Truth Magazine" states "In 1966, the nations of the world spent 40 per cent more on military programs than on public education. Also, world military budgets amounted to $150 billion, whereas only $111 billion was budgeted for public education."

We have many good private and parochial schools, but because they're considered private our government will not support them. What's the difference whether a school happens to be public, private or parochial as long as it turns out good citizens? Shouldn't they get public support?

Any male student from either a private or parochial school is obligated to fight for this country in time of war, but like the American Indian he had to fight for our country's defense but was denied the right to vote until just a few years ago. Don't you think it's time we banished all bigotry and tried to pull together?

If we don't, I'm afraid we'll be like India where they have a caste system and advocate an education only for the chosen few. May all good schools be government supported and may there be no prejudice against race, color or creed and may "God Bless America."

ROADSIDE LITTER

As the snow melts away each spring, I am appalled anew to see the cans, bottles, and general garbage that people toss from their cars on and along public roads. Besides detracting from our beautiful landscapes, many drivers suffer cut tires from broken bottles.

It is quite evident that a certain few of our Delta County citizens are what I call "pig artists" who are willing to "foul their own nest," and live in their own filth. Now, lets not conclude this is all the fault of "irresponsible kids," any more than it is the fault of so-called grown-ups.

I read recently that the annual spring roadside cleanup costs in excess of a million dollars. This is "peoples money," and I cannot understand how any taxpayer can be so foolish as to see his own tax dollars spent in this manner.

The fear of a $100 littering fine does not stop littering, but I think a few prosecutions would help. So how do we combat the problem? How about asking your distributor or retailer to discontinue sale of breakable non-return drink containers? At least the metal cans will stay in one piece and not puncture tires. And how about putting some of our able-bodied relief recipients to work cleaning up this litter, thereby freeing our regular employes for other necessary duties?

Israelis Down 5 Enemy Planes Over Port Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli pilots shot down five Egyptian MIG21s today in dogfights over Port Suez, at the southern end of the Suez Canal, the Israeli military command announced.

It was the second major aerial victory reported by Israel in three days and the biggest bag of Egyptian planes claimed by Israel's pilots in more than six months.

On Wednesday, the Israelis claimed they downed four MIG 21s in dogfights over the northern part of the canal. Egypt denied any losses.

Today's report brought to 85 the total number of Egyptian planes the Israelis claim to have shot down since the 1967 Middle East war.

All Israeli planes returned safely today, an Israeli spokesman said. He made the same report after the dogfights Wednesday, when the Egyptians claimed they shot down one plane.

Pounding Egyptian positions along the canal night and day, the Israeli jets crossed the canal at 9 a.m. today to bomb "military targets" at the southern end of the waterway and along the northern coast of the Gulf of Suez, the spokesman said.

Egypt's Soviet-supplied jets challenged the raiders 20 minutes after they began their bomb runs. The air battle lasted five minutes, the spokesman said, and the Israeli pilots continued their bombing attacks afterward.

Auto Industry's First Quarter Ruled Bad One

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto industry, with a four-day Easter holiday weekend cutting deeply into production schedules is facing its worst first quarter since 1961.

Automotive News said Thursday that U.S. automakers are expected to turn out 130,708 assemblies this week, compared to 159,345 the previous week and 182,281 in the comparable week of 1969.

The publication said that first-quarter production was not expected to reach 1,760,000 units this year, which would be the lowest point for the three-month period since 1961 when production fell to 1,189,538. The January-March period last year saw a production of 2,319,225.

U. S. truck producers are facing their worst first quarter since 1963, when the three-month count was 367,274. Production dropped to 31,483 this week, compared with 36,406 the previous week and 43,770 in the same week a year ago.

Domestic truck production for the calendar-year totals 438,047, compared with 500,892 for the like period of 1969.

Automakers in Canada are scheduled to turn out 19,024 units this week, off from 25,256 last week and 21,515 in the same week last year. Since January, 240,501 cars have been produced across the border, compared with 251,134 by this time last year.

Canadian trucks this week will total 5,246, down from last week's 6,683 and the 1969 week's 6,920. For the calendar year, the total is 70,052, compared with 81,689 at this stage last year.

Early Risers See Comet On Horizon

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan residents who are early risers or late getting to bed have reported sighting a comet low on the southern horizon the past few days.

The comet was first discovered last year, and has been traveling around the sun since then, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau in Detroit.

Sightings between 4 a.m. and 6 a.m. EST have been reported by observers from Detroit to the Upper Peninsula.

The celestial body is named Bennetts Comment, with the official name of Comet 1969 I.

Astronomers report that the comet can be seen very easily with the naked eye during the early morning hours.

Pentagon Denies Drug Role In My Lai Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon concedes U.S. troops in Vietnam are using marijuana in unprecedented numbers, but denies the drug played any role in the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians by American soldiers at My Lai.

Witnesses before a Senate panel, meanwhile, said Pentagon-issued statistics on the extent of marijuana used by GIs are vastly understated. They estimated 50 per cent or more of all troops in Vietnam have used marijuana at least once.

Hearings Denounced

But another witness, Ronald L. Ridenhour, the former soldier who reported to authorities the alleged slaughter in the South Vietnamese hamlet in March 1968, denounced the hearings as "unbelievably irresponsible—almost criminal."

The Pentagon, reacting to testimony before Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's juvenile delinquency subcommittee recently that five soldiers in one squad of the Army company at My Lai smoked marijuana the night before the operation, said:

"Intensive interrogation ... developed no evidence that any unit engaged in the Son My (My Lai) operation was under the influence of marijuana or other narcotics."

Drug Usage Breakdown

The Pentagon also provided a breakdown on drug usage on Vietnam last year, saying there were 7,737 such cases representing 16.4 per thousand men. This compared with 3,650 cases representing 8.51 per thousand in 1968. The cases primarily involved use of marijuana, the Pentagon said.

Ridenhour told a newsman after his testimony: "It is my opinion from everything I know about My Lai that the use of marijuana was in no way a contributing factor."

Throughout the two days of hearings, Dodd has insisted the opposite is true.

Drug Problem Serious

In another news briefing at the Pentagon, Vice Adm. William Mack, a deputy assistant secretary of defense, said the drug problem among U.S. troops in Vietnam is serious and growing.

"We have fewer people in Vietnam every day," he said. "Maybe that will save us."

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said testimony by former Army psychiatrists before the Dodd panel that marijuana smoking produced violent reactions, often from the first cigarette, runs directly counter to scientific testimony before his drug abuse subcommittee.

"There have been no tests on marijuana from Vietnam to show that it has a dangerous and toxic effect beyond anything we have ever known," Hughes said in an interview.

Tax Collections Show No Drop, City Reports

The collection of county and school taxes in Escanaba show no decline compared with a year ago, and there is no indication of a "recession" in the Escanaba community.

Most recent tax collection figures show the city reported to the Delta County treasurer a collection of 96.4 per cent on city taxes and 94.1 per cent on county and school taxes as of March 16, 1970.

These collections are comparable to past years and update a prior report (as of Feb. 15) when the city's collections of county and school tax were considerably below a year ago at that time. After that date the collections increased to bring them to 94.1 per cent as of March 16.

Pay Settlement Appears Set In Postal Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and government negotiators said today they have reached a basis for settling the pay dispute that led to a widespread postal strike last week.

With President Nixon spending the Easter weekend at Key Biscayne Fla., Congress adjourned until Tuesday and the country's postal clerks and carriers back on the job, negotiators appeared driving toward a settlement after two days of talks. They were to resume discussions this afternoon.

Spokesmen for both sides characterized the talks as "serious" and "business-like" and, following a Thursday night session that broke up after 1 a.m. EST today, issued a statement saying they had "reached a basis for negotiation."

Exactly what that meant, however, was not disclosed by the negotiating teams headed by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount and the AFL-CIO's James Gildea.

St. Ignace Men Named In $27,000 Narcotics Case

ST. IGNACE — Warrants were issued Thursday for the arrest of three St. Ignace youths allegedly implicated in a huge marijuana haul made here Sunday by St. Ignace city police, Mackinac County Presecuting Attorney James Brown said this morning.

According to Brown, a warrant will be issued for Gary Grogan of St. Ignace on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy to violate the narcotics law. Other warrants charging conspiracy only will be issued for Jacques Corp and Gary McMillan, both of St. Ignace, Brown said. The trio are reportedly working in Detroit and will be returned to St. Ignace, said the prosecutor.

Brown said Grogan is alleged to have mailed the more than 12 pounds of marijuana home to himself while serving in the U.S. Army in Vietnam.

The cache was originally valued at about $9,000 by local sources. However, while the drug was in Lansing for analysis Tuesday, state crime laboratory authorities said the value would probably be more than $27,000.

Mack, Jacobetti Push Antlerless Deer Bill

LANSING (AP) — A Democratic state senator who wants to ban killing of antlerless deer in the Upper Peninsula for one year has taken a tentative step in that direction.

The Senate moved Thursday into final vote position a bill that would allow dedicated sportsmen who hunt, fish and trap across the spectrum of Michigan wildlife to do so under one $18 license.

In preliminary debate, Sen. Joseph Mack of Ironwood, succeeded in tacking on amendments that would remove antlerless deer permits from that license.

Mack's amendments, which still face final action when the Senate reconvenes April 7, also would require those applying for antlerless deer permits to pay an extra $15.

Should the bill pass the Senate in its present form, it still must be considered in the lower chamber, where members already have passed their own version of the so-called "sportsmen's license" bill.

House Conservation Co-chairman Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, indicated the Senate bill with Mack's provisions faced little chance of being approved by his committee.

In the House, meanwhile, Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, introduced two bills dealing with the antlerless deer issue. One of Jacobetti's measures, which he has introduced numerous times in his 15 years in the Legislature, proposes a moratorium on shooting of antlerless deer until Sept. 1, 1972.

The other calls for creation of a citizens committee to advise the State Natural Resources Department on deer herd management.

The issue of shooting does and controlling the size of deer herds has been a point of contention for years between Upper Peninsula residents and game management experts in the department.

Some legislators, voicing opinions of northern and Upper Peninsula legislators, contend the herd is dwindling and should be expanded. Department experts, on the other hand, contend northern Michigan forests, simply by growing, have reduced available forage, resulting in a smaller deer herd. The state's view is that the herd's size is consistent with the amount of food available to sustain it.

Jacobetti also introduced bills Thursday that propose $5 bounties on bobcats and red foxes.

Welfare Ruling Could Cost State $6 Million Yearly

LANSING (AP) — A recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling on welfare could cost Michigan some $6 million a year, says the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, who earlier this week called for an investigation of the state's welfare programs, said Michigan must now "take all precautions to see that only the needy and the eligible are placed on the welfare rolls to begin with."

The U.S. high court ruled this week that welfare recipients cannot be taken off the rolls for any reason until they have run a full course of appeals. That, Zollar said, "may take years." The senator said also that the court decision means Michigan would have to pay costs of welfare recipient appeals throughout the action.

Zollar said the ruling could be "detrimental to honest and eligible welfare recipients, because if ineligible and undeserving persons cannot be removed from the rolls, monies intended for the use of the truly needy will be dissipated by payments to those who are not in need."

New Rule Set On Radio-TV Ownership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has issued a new rule restricting ownership of radio and television operations "to prevent undue influence on local public opinion by relatively few persons or groups."

Under the rule issued Thursday and effective immediately, owners who now have more than one broadcasting operation in a single market can keep all their stations, but cannot in the future, with certain exceptions, acquire another facility in the same community.

The FCC also said it is considering extending the restrictions to force the dismantling of combined newspaper-broadcast operations within five years.

The FCC's proposal would "require present owners, within a period of five years, to reduce their holdings to an AM-FM (radio) combination, a television station or a newspaper ownership in the same market."

The FCC said this proposal is only under consideration and further study is required before a rule is adopted requiring owners to divest themselves of some of their holdings.

Art Bernstone, chief counsel for FCC's Broadcast Bureau, said the proposal means a party could own only a newspaper or an AM-FM combination or a television station in a single market. But the FCC did not define "market," and asked for comment to develop a workable definition.

The agency does not regulate newspapers but has power to issue or withhold licenses for broadcasting operations.

The proposal would require "that any broadcast licensee buying daily newspaper properties in the same market would have to dispose of its broadcast properties within one year or within its renewal period, whichever is longer."

Another proposal would prohibit approval of a broadcast license to a party owning a daily newspaper in the same market. Broadcast licenses are granted for three-year periods.

The FCC also asked for comments on the five-year proposal to dismantle media combinations and asked for suggestions to "cushion the impact."

Bernstone said neither the new ownership rule nor the proposal would prevent broadcast and newspaper combinations as long as they were scattered in diverse communities.

Prison Escapees Recaptured After 300-Mile Chase

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Three prisoners who seized two churchwomen and fled from jail in Cleveland, Ohio, were recaptured after a 300-mile auto chase and were being held here on charges of violating the federal kidnaping law.

The prisoners were identified by Cleveland authorities as Thomas Eugene Thomas, 20, from Alabama, James Wayne Sykes, 25, of Mississippi, and David Nelson Carpenter, 19, of Cleveland.

They finally were stopped Thursday by Kentucky state police and FBI agents at a roadblock on Interstate 75 north of Georgetown and surrendered without a struggle.

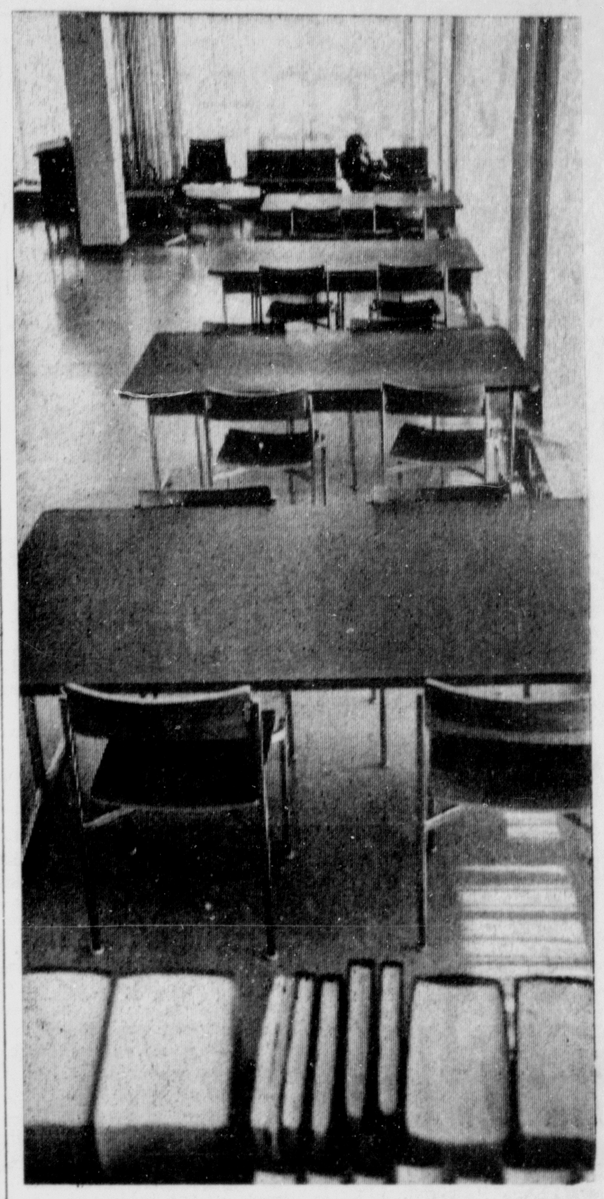

The two hostages, Norena Bellaria, 62, of Parma, Ohio, and Louise Honour, 70, Fairview, Ohio were released unharmed.

Four Intermediate Districts In U.P.?

Rep. Charles H. Varnum (R-Manistique) believes the intermediate school district reorganization bill pending in the Legislature now adequately protects the interests of the Upper Peninsula.

As passed by the House, the regional reorganization bill would consolidate Michigan's 60 intermediate districts into 20 to 30 larger units. Gov. William Milliken originally proposed 10 to 15 regional districts, but House members decided those figures should be doubled to assure greater local influence.

A Varnum-sponsored amendment tacked onto the bill requires that the U. P. have no less than four intermediate districts after the reorganization. A special reorganization committee would draw up a remap plan and submit it to the Legislature by next Jan. 16.

"There were strong indications that without the amendment, the Upper Peninsula would have ended up with only one intermediate school district," Varnum said. "I found that possibility totally unacceptable."

"I voted against the reorganization bill when it passed the House," Varnum said, "because I thought we should be allowed time to assess its overall impact on the U. P. before voting. I have since examined the bill and am satisfied, with the four district minimum provision, that the plan offers adequate fairness for the U. P."

The House vote on the intermediate district bill was 56 to 38. The measure must now go to the State Senate for further consideration.

More Object To Carswell Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate maneuvering over the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell has created a tangle of confusing cross-currents, with opposing sides agreeing only that the vote will be close.

Oregon's two Republican senators joined the opposition ranks Thursday and one of them, Mark O. Hatfield, sent a letter to President Nixon urging him to withdraw the nomination of the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., federal judge.

Hatfield said he would vote to send the nomination back to the Senate Judiciary Committee. But his colleague, Robert W. Packwood, said he was "less than enthusiastic" about this move, even though he intends to vote against Carswell's confirmation.

A motion to return the nomination to the Judiciary Committee, which approved it originally by a 13-4 vote, has been proposed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., as an indirect way of trying to kill or force the withdrawal of Carswell's appointment.

The vote on the motion is set for April 6. If it fails a direct vote on the nomination itself will follow April 8.

Some senators looked on Bayh's move as an admission of weakness by opponents, an acknowlegement they don't have the votes to defeat Carswell on a straight-out vote as they did Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., Nixon's first choice for the court post.

But Bayh said the recommittal motion will give the Senate a chance "to express deep reservations of concern about the nominee to the President."

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

One day we got this huge advertising calendar in the mail. It had so much space on it to write notes.

My oldest daughter was over a thousand miles from home and so very lonesome. Sometimes I didn't get all the news into my letters to her.

So I started jotting down events (who I visited, where I shopped, etc.) on the calendar.

If I needed more space I wrote on the back of the calendar. I left no space unused.

This became a habit with me. At the end of the month, off went my calendar letter.

My daughter eagerly awaits her letter each month and her mom surely does enjoy filling it in.

FLOOR PLANS: Novel feature of this A-frame's layout is the second cottage, but note how the main house is well laid-out for complete family living. While sliding glass doors at front lead into living room, side door provides entry to rear of house.

STONE, VERTICAL BOARDS and wood roof shingles are combined in typical A-frame construction in this striking leisure house, with a covered deck leading from the second floor of the main dwelling to a guest cottage that, in turn, has its own outdoor deck.

A-Frame With Guest House

By ANDY LANG

Here is a completely new twist to the paragon off informal living, the A-frame house.

Attached to the main structure is a separate unit with upper and lower levels of simple design. It can be built during the original construction or left off and added at a later date. The unit is, in effect, a guest cottage that can be used for that purpose or as a rental apartment, since it includes a kitchen.

While the house is off the vacation or leisure type — the exterior design is not always acceptable in most suburban communities — it nevertheless has all the facilities of a year 'round home, including central heating, complete insulation and a full basement.

The living room at the front of the A-frame is 23' in width and has been given a complete wall of glass by architect Rudolph A. Matern. There is an impressive and bold shaft of stone from the fireplace up through the roof. On the opposite side of the chimney is a builtin barbecue, which is in addition to the regular kitchen range. Between the living room and the kitchen is a separate dining area, although the kitchen has its own snack bar.

On the same floor are two bedrooms, one with a walk-in closet, one with a regular closet. The bathroom is located between the living and bedroom sections. Near the bathroom, but completely separate, is a stall shower. Since it is close to a doorway to the downstairs porch, it is easily accessible to anyone coming in from the beach, pool or lake.

Behind the kitchen are stairways to the basement and the upper level. A third bedroom and a lavatory are upstairs, where there is a railed balcony looking down on the living room.

Outside the second floor of the main house is an elevated deck with a covered roof over the walkway. This deck leads to the guest cottage, a fairly small but delightful area for vacation living. Its living room has sliding glass doors which open on an outdoor deck. The floor plans show where the architect suggests that a fold-out double sofa bed be placed for sleeping. A prefabricated, all-in-one type of kitchen is recommended for its compact efficiency in a small space. A large closet is well placed between the kitchen and bath. The bath has double glass panels on either side of the door to the outdoor deck.

The lower part of the guest cottage can be used to house a boat or car or it can be utilized as a sun-shaded porch or rainy-day play area. A bank of closets 20' long provides a world of storage. The separate heating unit for the extension is also located here. An outdoor stairway from the terrace to the upper level maintains privacy by providing a separate access for those living in the guest area.

In typical A-frame fashion, Design S-38 has the exterior appearance of leisurely living, whether it be during vacation periods or all year 'round.

S-3 8STATISTICS

Design S-38 has a living room, dining area, kitchen, two bedrooms and a bathroom on the first floor of the main house, totaling 1127 square feet. Upstairs are a bedroom, lavatory and balcony area, adding 431 square feet to the living area. The guest cottage, with its living room, kitchen and bathroom, has 376 square feet. The lower part of the guest unit can be used for storing a boat or car. The dimensions of the main house are 24' 6" by 58' 6", including the terrace in front of the house. The over-all dimensions, which include the sun deck and the guest cottage, are 61' 6" by 58' 6".

Here's The Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Q. — We have red cedar shingles on the outside of our house. I would like to use something similar in our family room. Is there a product of this kind that can be used indoors?

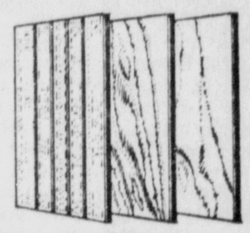

A.—Yes. Exactly the same shingles which are used outside. Thus, you can use regular shingles or any of the several varieties of split shakes. The big difference is that, in indoor application, the shingles or shakes can be put on in whatever design strikes your fancy; outside, certain rules must be followed to take advantage of the wood's natural durability and resistance to weather. In either case, the shingles or shakes can be stained to permit the wood grain to show through, left natural or painted.

MANISTIQUE

Funds Approved For State Rural Employment Plan

Manistique's application for further development of the Central Park area, adjacent to the stadium has been approved, City Recreation Director Dick Bonifas told the Recreation Commission Wednesday night.

The Department of Natural Resources approved the application for $22,524 which will come from the State Recreation Bond Fund as soon as money is available.

There was no indication when the money will be available in the communication Bonifas received from the Department of Natural Resources in Lansing.

The development will include a multi-purpose sports field, golf putting green, two lighted tennis courts with one court to be converted to an ice rink in the winter, archery ranges and handball courts, mini-parks, playground, picnic area, improved ski slide, toboggan slide and portable chemical toilet facilities.

The Recreation Commission will also use about $8,000 of a Centennial Fund which was designated for such use as the city's share of the estimated $30,000 total project cost.

In other business, the board discussed forming an advisory group to assist in planning the development and to implement and expand existing programs. It was suggested that the advisory group be composed of persons who served on a planning committee in the late 1940s and other representatives from organizations involved in recreational activities.

A use-of-buildings and grounds policy was adopted by the group of which Earl Kane is chairman; Mrs. Katherine LeBrasseur, secretary. Other members include Louis Rogers and Denton Nelson plus Director Bonifas.

Briefly Told

State police ticketed George A. Schultz, Livonia, for speeding on Wednesday.

The MHS Class of 1940 will meet for a reunion planning session tonight at 8:30 at the Elks Club. A good turnout is requested.

DRIVER TRAINING

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP) — Driver training instruction has been set up for inmates about to be released from the Kentucky State Refromatory.

Detroit Banks Lower Interest Rates On Loans

DETROIT (AP) — The five largest banks in Detroit lowered their prime interest rates Thursday to eight per cent, down half a point from the prevailing 8½ per cent level.

The action in Detroit came after many banks in New York and throughout the nation dropped their rates.

Detroit Bank and Trust Co. was the first to announce the decrease Thursday, followed soon after by Manufacturers National Bank, National Bank of Detroit, City National Bank and the Bank of the Commonwealth.

The prime rate is the interest charged by banks on short term loans of large amounts of capital to their best customers.

The change in the rate is not expected to shift mortgage rates. Sidney Kaye, vice president of the Advance Mortgage Co. said "the 8 per cent rate is an indication of a trend more than anything else."

Stanford Stoddard, president of the Michigan Bank said that his bank had relatively few loans at the prime rate, and has no immediate plans to shift to the eight per cent rate from the present 8½ per cent interest level. Stoddard said that until recently the 8½ per cent rate was too low, and said it should have been up around 10 per cent.

Hubby Does Well With 'Operation'

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A Kalamazoo man performed a complex operation of taking his wife "off" an artificial kidney machine today while firemen extinguished a blaze in the couple's trailer home.

Hospital officials said the man, Stanley Hogarth, did an excellent job and his wife, Kathleen, was reported doing well.

Firemen said they received an alarm about 4:30 a.m. that a trailer home was afire at the Hillcrest Acres Mobile Home site.

On arrival, the firefighters discovered that a furance in the rear had started a small fire behind the back wall.

As the blaze was being doused, Hogarth returned the blood in the kidney machine to his wife's body, and she was taken to Bronson Hospital. She was examined and released.

New Daytime Serial Due To Be Launched

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC will launch on Monday a new daytime serial called "Another World—Somerset." This must not be confused with NBC's most popular soap opera, "Another World—Bay City," which until today was just plain "Another World."

It is hard enough to keep the titles of daytime serials straight because none seems to give any clue about content. Now "Another World" is about to divide like a one-cell Paramecium.

"Another World—Somerset" is one type of what television calls a spin-off. This one will relate in various ways to the established serial, including exchanges of characters and, occasionally, interwoven story lines.

This type of program reproduction is hardly new. When "Peyton Place" was at its popularity peak on ABC as a nighttime serial, CBS spun its "As the World Turns" off into a new, prime-time serial simply by having the heroine of the daytime soap opera, Lisa Hughes, go to a distant city to make a new life. The show did not do well, and it was only a matter of weeks before Lisa decided she liked life better in dear old daytime Oakdale.

"Green Acres," when launched several seasons back on CBS, was a sort of double spin-off. Creator Paul Henning had a hit by putting country folk in sophisticated city surroundings— "Beverly Hillbillies"—so he put the very urban family of "Green Acres" into a country setting. He also made them neighbors of his "Petticoat Junction" family, using some supporting characters in both shows and having the principals visiting back and forth.

The device is designed to help the new shows attract audiences. By making "Another World" two serials, NBC obviously hopes the old audience for one show will stick around for the second.

Meanwhile, ABC will introduce on Monday two new soap operas, one of them called "A World Apart"—not to be confused with "As the World Turns," or "Another World."

Experimentation with form will continue with some programs next season. NBC started last season by building "The Name of the Game" around three characters connected by the same publishing empire. This season it put together three different series under one title, "The Bold Ones."

Next season, NBC plans something called "Four-in-One," simply four short serials, one following the other.

Sen. Levin Not In Accord With Spending Plan

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley, expected to announce Monday that he is a candidate for governor, said Thursday he will not agree to limit his campaign spending to any maximum sum.

Only hours earlier, two declared candidates, former state party chairman Zolton Ferency and Rep. George F. Montgomery of Detroit called for a $50,000 ceiling on primary campaign spending.

Ferency and Montgomery proposed a committee, composed of representatives of every declared candidate and of the Democratic State Central Committee be set up to monitor campaign spending.

The two Democrats also called on labor unions and local party organizations to refrain from backing any candidate before the Aug. 4 primary election.

Seek Hart's Help In Saving River Areas Downstate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department was asked by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Thursday to join efforts to save wild and scenic lands along Michigan's Au Sable and Mainistee Rivers.

Hart also said he was asking Consumers Power Co. of Jackson to extend indefinitely the firm's four-month stay on leasing property along the rivers.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resource has recommended that the areas be maintained for public use.

Conservation sportsmen's and civic groups are opposing power company plans to lease private recreation and cabin sites along the rivers, Hart said. The firm bought the river property in connection with hydroelectric production.

Pistol Pete Signs To Play For Hawks

NEW YORK (AP) — Money. Money. Money. The rival pro basketball leagues are dishing out dollars like pictures of Washington, Lincoln, Jackson and Cleveland were going out of style.

The signing of Pete Maravich for an estimated $1.9 million Thursday by the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association was the latest dollar drain from the coffers of a professional sports organization.

The pro basketball leagues, despite discussions about merging, have been tossing around million-dollar-plus contracts to athletes for the past 10 days.

The NBA and the younger American Basketball Association are making pro football look like a piker. It wasn't so long ago that the $400,000 Joe Namath got for a three-year contract with the American Football League New ork jets was considered absolutely astronomical.

Pistol Pete, the floppy haired kid with the sloppy socks and saucer-sized brown eyes from Louisiana State, will get almost as much for one year. His $1.9 million for five years breaks down to $380,000 a season.

The highest-paid pro football players these days get $150,000 annually. Baseball's biggest salary checks, in the $130,000 range, go to Willie Mays, Carl Yastrzemski, Bog Gibson and Frank Howard.

Basketball teams have recently signed contracts with college athletes for close to $10 million. The big names this season are virtually committed now, but there are a hundred or so more rookies to sign. And the NBA and ABA still have to deal with established stars like Jerry West, Wilt Chamberlain, Oscar Robertson and Willis Reed, all of whom will undoubtable want more money.

It's not exactly like going to the bank and rolling away a wheelbarrow full of $1,000 bills at one time, however.

Because of the tax laws, much of the money will spread out over long periods of time. Rick Mount, the Purdue All-American, signed earlier this month with the ABA Indiana Pacers for a contract that could ultimately result in $1 million over 40 years. Part of the deal calls for Mount to get $20,000 annually starting in 1990—that's 20 years from now—for a 20-year investment program.

Nevertheless, the money has to eventually be paid. Where will it come from? Television, which financed the dollar duel between the pro football leagues before they merged, will, in a large part, finance the basketball bidding battle.

The NBA last month signed a new television contract which will net $5.6 million annually. The ABA is negotiating television pact now.

In the long run, the American Consumers' cash will pay Pistol Pete's salary. After all, their money for products pays for the commericials which provide the loot for televised sporting events.

Unknown Leads Airlines Open

MIAMI (AP) — George Johnson is one black athlete who isn't militant, angry or unhappy.

"I ain't mad at anybody," said the 31-year-old pro golfer. "We had a tournament in Hattiesburg, Miss., last year and even the folks there rolled out the red carpet for me."

Johnson blistered the Country Club of Miami course for a six-under par 66 Thursday and came up second best in the opening round of the $200,000 National Airlines Open.

Unknown Bob Menne smashed the course record by two strokes with an eight-under par 64 early in the rain-smothered day, but Johnson and tour veteran R. H. Sikes pulled close with 66's later.

Last year, in the inaugural tournament sponsored by strike-hamstrung National Airlines, 24 pros shot 69 or better the first day, but little-known former Georgia Tech football placekicker, Bunky Henry, came on to win with a mere 10-under par 278.

Thursday's rundown showed 14 at 69 or lower, 42 under par and 17 more at even-par 72 on the 6,927-yard course.

Masters Champion George Archer was tied for fourth at 68 along with Tommy Aaron, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Stone and Australian Bob Stanton.

In a group at 69 was 1969's top money winner Frank Beard along with Lee Trevino, Rod Funseth, Ted Hayes, Hale Irwin and Dan Sikes.

Teams Advance In Tournament

HERMANSVILLE — A mild upset and two barn burners marked last night's action in the quarter-finals of the Class B Gold Medal Basketball Tournament.

In the opener, the surprising Felch Solberg Bar team defeated Menominee Jozwiaks Bar 75-69. Gary Bloomquist led Felch with 21 points, while Bob Davidson netted 16 and Ross Dixon scored 10. Pete Putala paced Jozwiaks with 25 points.

Norway Louie's Bar held off the Stephenson Kakuk Construction five to post a hard fought 67-64 victory in the second game of the evening. John Nylund and Joe Kuzek led the Norway attack with 22 and 15 points respectively. Clark Suchovsky scored 19 points and Roger Oiler 16 for Stephenson.

Stambo Sach's Bar routed Iron Mountain Edwards Chevrolet 65-26 behind a balanced scoring attack in the third game of the night.

In the nightcap, Hermansville Wildwood edged the McNeil Oilers 77-76. Jon Whitens topped all scorers in the contest with 29 points, while Bill Murray, who also played a strong game on the boards, had 15 points. Jerry Hautala scored 24 and Dave Anderson 22 for the Oilers.

Eight teams will swing into action the Class A competition Saturday night. Hampton Gains All-State Team

DETROIT (AP) — Steve Hampton of the Marquette Redmen was among players named to the 1970 Class A All-State high school basketball team selected by the Associated Press.

The ten member team was picked last week by Associated Press sports writers based on nominations from writers and broadcasters from throughout Michigan. Players nominated who did not poll enough votes from 12 regional chairmen were accorded honorable mention.

Hampton, a six-foot forward, was one of the primary reasons the now disbanded Class D school Marquette Bishop Baraga won the state title last year. This season with Class A Marquette, Hampton continued to impress, finishing his three year career with 1,126 points.

Others chosen on the All-State team are Lindsay Hairston, a 6-8 junior from Detroit Kttering, Campy Russell, a 6-7 junior from Pontiac Central, Gerald Edwards, a 6-5 senior from Grand Rapids Union, Tyrone Lewis, a 6-2 senior from Ferndale, Richard Drewitz, a 6-7½ senior from Garden City West, Doug MacKenzie, a 6-3 senior from Warren Fitzgerald, Frank Tanana, a 6-2 junior from Detroit Catholic Central, Dave Freeman, a 6-3 senior from Battle Creek Central, and Larry Tatum, a 6-1 senior from Muskegon.

Knicks Take Advantage In Series With Bullets

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks and Baltimore Bullets, sky - high for the playoff pressure cooker, prompted a flood of superlatives from Walt Frazier.

"It was one of the guttiest games I've ever been in . . . it was . . . well, it was a heck of a game," the Knicks' blue chip guard said Thursday night after New York trimmed Baltimore 120-117 in a double overtime National Basketball Association playoff game.

The victory gave the Knicks a 1-0 advantage in the best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series which resumes tonight in Baltimore. Milwaukee, which holds a 1-0 edge on Philadelphia, plays the 76ers in Madison, Wis., in another Eastern semifinal contest.

Frazier said he felt sluggish during regulation time, but made two steals from Earl "The Pearl" Monroe in the overtime sesssions to key the victory.

"They were strictly gambles," Frazier said. "I miss the ball and Monroe's in for two field goals. Monroe is unbelievable when he's hot . . . and he was really at his peak tonight."

Frazier's steals appearde to fit into the scheme of the contest that had more turns than a Hollywood script.

—Monroe, who had a game-high 39 points, missed a jumper in the final seconds of regulation time.

—Frazier knocked the ball from Monroe's hands to Dick Barnett, who raced the length of the court and missed the winning bucket at the end of the first overtime.

—Willis Reed, who missed two clutch shots and a free throw in the first extra period, turned from goat to hero with the winning basket with 33 seconds left in the second overtime.

Said Reed: "I thought Baltimore played much better tonight than they did during the season. You play that kind ball in the playoffs. All of them were great."

The Knicks, who closed out their regular season with four losses after nailing down the Eastern Division crown, came to play, according to Coach Red Holtzman.

"The playoffs will fire up anybody," he said. " . . . and this was sure a nice win for us."

Monroe's extraordinary jump shooting and the vibrant play of ice-cool rookie Fred Carter kept the Bullets eye-to-eye with the Knicks throughout. Carter wound up with 21 points and was a defensive marvel.

The contest was faintly reminiscent of past events. Last year, Baltimore won the Eastern Division crown and was knocked off by the third-place Knicks in four straight.

The Bullets almost pulled a turnabout this time.

"We weren't thinking about last year," said Coach Gene Shue of Baltimore. "We just go out and try to play our normal game. I think we played a tremendous game tonight. It's just that the Knicks are a darn good team.

"But we'll be home tonight . . . and it'll be a different story."

Gus Johnson, Baltimore's rugged forward, agreed: "Tomorrow we'll be in Baltimore . . . and it'll be a horse of a different face."

Esposito Breaks Shutout Record

By The Associated Press

His critics claim that all Tony Esposito does is flop around and the Chicago Black Hawk goalie is the first one to agree.

"But," says Esposito, "I'm not going to change my style. You can bet on that."

And you couldn't really blame the rookie netminder who shattered a National Hockey League modern record with his 14th shutout of the season Thursday night, blanking Detroit 1-0.

The victory boosted the Black Hawks back to within one point of first place Boston in the frantic East Division race. Each team has five games to play.

In the only other game Thursday, Los Angeles Edged Philadelphia 3-2.

"I don't play like any goalie I've ever seen," admits Esposito, whose brother, Phil set an NHL scoring record with 126 points for Boston last year. "I just go out there and flop around."

Esposito's flopping kicked out 35 Detroit shots and erased the modern single season shutout record of 13 set by Toronto's Harry Lumley in 1953-54. The all-time record of 22 in 44 games was established by Montreal's George Hainsworth in 1928-29.

Detroit's Roy Edwards matched Esposito save for save until midway through the third period when Pit Martin backhanded his own rebound into the Red Wing net.

By losing, Detroit remained fourth in the East, two points back of Montreal and two in front of New York. The Red Wings have played one less game than both the Canadiens and Rangers.

Los Angeles' victory over Philadelphia snapped the Kings' six-game losing streak and prevented the Flyers from moving into second-place in the trails runnerup Pittsburgh by a point.

NORWAY — The selection of the All-Conference basketball team highlighted the annual spring meeting of the Skyline Conference Thursday night at the Rialto Lounge here.

Named to the team, selected by basketball coaches of the conference, were Dick Smith of Powers-Spalding, Larry Laitala of Champion, Bruce Pantti of Republic, Gary Danielson of Champion and Steve Swanson of National Mine.

Players gaining second team berths were Bob Kristoff of Pembine, John Perras of Carney, Stewart Sundholm of Felch, Kim Riedy of Powers-Spalding and Mark Cambray of Channing.

Honorable mention was given to Pete Sevegny of Republic, Ed Benson of Carney and John Dani of Hermansville.

The conference also voted unanimously to support the Great Northern Conference in its proposal to hold a strictly U.P. basketball tournament if the Michigan High School Athletic Association continues with its plan of running the state tournament over a four week period instead of the present three-week setup.

Wolverines Split With Arizona 9

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona and Michigan baseball teams split the final games of their eight-game series Thursday with a first game win of 9-5 for the Wolverines and an 8-5 victory for Arizona in the second contest.

In the first game, a homerun by Michigan leftfielder Tom Kettinger with one on in the seventh propelled the Wolverines to the win.

The freshman from Oak Park, Ill., hit another homerun in the fourth inning of the second game.

Arizona catcher Ray Rokey and second baseman Mark Driscoll led the second game drive with two hits apiece. Four runs in the fifth inning gave Arizona all the points they needed to take the second game.

Strikes-n-Spares

With Mike Utt

Sunday was a big day at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes as three bowlers all rolled near 300 games. Nick Gersich started the day off in the Men's City Tournament by getting nine straight strikes before burying a ball in the pocket in the 10th frame and leaving the 10 pin standing. Nick finished with a big 279 game. Then Sunday night, in the Mixed Doubles League, Louie Parlato and Leo Peltier came up with nine and eight strikes straight respectively before missing. Louie ended up with a 250 game and and 633 series, while Leo had a 250 game.

The high team game of the night was a 755 and Dee Wunder helped to accomplish this by rolling a 205. Dee carries a 129 average and her big game was her first 200 game. Speaking of bowling oddities, try this one on for example. Paul Kreger, bowling for the lab in the Escanaba Paper Co. League, rolled a ball that hit the pocket on alley 12 at the Holiday Bowl. The 4-pin flew into the air, flipped and landed in the 7-pin spot and stayed put. Observers could never recall ever seeing this happen before.

Pilot Pitchers Ambush Indians

By The Associated Press

While Seattle's flak-riddled baseball flagship tries to avert a crash landing in Milwaukee a couple of young Pilots are earning their wings on the ground.

The Pilots, apparently headed for a franchise shift to Milwaukee before their April 7 season opener, shaded the Cleveland Indians 2-1 Thursday in exhibition play behind the three-hit pitching of Marty Pattin and John Gelnar.

Pattin worked seven strong innings and Gelnar blanked the Indians the rest of the way at Tempe, Ariz., as the Pilots brought their spring record to 8-10.

At nearby Phoenix, meanwhile, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn conceded that Seattle's chances of keeping the franchise appear dim—despite temporary restraining orders, obtained by the city and state of Washington, against movement of the team.

The American League is expected to approve transfer and sale of the year-old expansion club for $10.8 million within the next week.

Mike Hegan's run-scoring single in the seventh inning broke a 1-1 tie and carried the Pilots past Cleveland in one of only five games played Thursday.

The Chicago Cubs blasted Oakland 9-2 at Scottsdale, Ariz.; California downed San Diego 6-3 at Palm Springs, Calif.; San Francisco beat the Nagoya Chunichi Dragons 5-0 in Japan and Baltimore shipped Washington 8-2 at Miami, Fla. Seven other Florida games were washed out because of rain or wet grounds.

Ron Santo drove in three runs with a single and his third spring homer and Johnny Callison drilled a two-run triple, leading the Cubs' assault on Oakland ace John "Blue Moon" Odom.

The Angels ended San Diego's winning streak at five games behind a 10-hit spree. Bill Voss led the way, poking a double and two singles for a .400 exhibition average.

Frank Reberger and Rich Robertson combined for a three-hit shutout in the Giants' victory, which gave them a 3-4 record on their Japanese tour.

The Orioles rocked Dick Bosman for nine hits and all their runs in the second and third innings, then breezed behind the full-route pitching of Mike Cuellar. Cuellar, first Baltimore hurler to go nine innings, scattered eight hits and socked a two-run double.

Coach Predicts Bucks Will Win

Lew Alcindor loomed over college basketball for three years. In his first year as a pro, he's now looming over the playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

"I think the Milwaukee Bucks have got a good shot at going all the way in the playoffs," says Phoenix Coach Jerry Colangelo, whose Suns are in the Western Division postseason scrap.

First the Alcindor-led Bucks have to get by the Philadelphi 76ers. The two teams clash tonight in the second game—the Bucks won the first 125—118—of their best-of-7 Eastern Division series.

Alcindor scored 36 points in the first playoff game.

In his rookie year, the 7-foot-2 Alcindor who was a three-time All-American at UCLA, finished second to Jerry West of Los Angeles in scoring with a 28.8 point average. He was third in Rebounding, a facet of his game that Alcindor admits needs improvement.

The Bucks finished last in the East in 1968-69, the first season of NBA competition for the expansion team. This year, with Alcindor, Milwaukee was second only to the New York Knicks in the East.

The reason for the Bucks' improvement can be traced primarily to Alcindor.

"He's of superstar status right now, and he'll get better," said Boston Celtic Coach Tom Heinsohn. "He's extremely mobile for a man his size. "He can shoot, he goes either right or left acd h3's exceptionally good defensively. He has the best aspects of Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain in one ballplayer."

Knicks Center Willis Reed the NBA's Most Valuable Player, also is impressed with the Milwaukee pivot.

"You saw the moves he made out there," Reed said after the Bucks defeated the Knicks and Alcindor scored 41 points. "You can't stop him. He's great and he's going to get better."

Because of his height, Lew is easily recognizable, even in the group of basketball players. His high school and college coaches kept him secluded from the news media and he still appears to be slightly withdrawn.

Yet, those who have been in close contact with him say Alcindor is a very warm and articulate young man.

When he signed his astronomical $1.4 million contract last spring, Alcindor said the money would allow him to become more involved in black community affairs.

"Becoming financially stable, you have more power to do things," Alcindor said then. "There are a lot of areas that can be worked with. The black community is down on the bottom in every way imaginable."

Members of the black press attending the first Alcindor news conference immediately invited him ot participate in projects in Milwaukee's North Side. Since then, the black papers here have publicly asked why Alcindor has yet to work with ghetto youth as have teammates Flynn Robinson and Sam Williams.

That could be his greatest weakness—lack of maturity. Even that drawback is becoming less and less noticable.

Bob Rule, Seattle center, played against Alcindor in college. After a recent game in Milwaukee, Rule said. "Offensively, Lew hasn't improved too much. He was great to begin with. And he had all of the moves when he was at UCLA."

"The big difference with Lew, though, is that he has matured. When I played against him early in the season, before I got hurt, you could bother him by leaning on him. He had those two blow-ups zin Seattle and in Philadelphia. But now he leans back and pushes. He doesn't let the pushing upset him anymore."

Seattle Has Approval To Build New Stadium

SEATTLE (AP) — King County was given a go-ahead Thursday to build a domed stadium in downtown Seattle, though that decision faces another court test. The county, meanwhile, is seeking a team to play in the stadium in place of the Seattle Pilots, apparently lost to Milwaukee.

Superior Court Judge William J. Wilkens ruled that selection of the downtown site was made in accordance with state law and couldn't be overturned by a countywide initiative.

The State Supreme Court set Monday as the date for a review of Wilkins' ruling. That same day, Sidney C. Volinn, federal referee in bankruptcy, is to rule on the merits of an offer from a Milwaukee group to buy the American League baseball team for $10.8 million.

Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc. owner of the Pilots has aid it can not operate the club in Seattle during the 1970 season, and put itself in Volinn's hands. The club and related matters have bounced around from court to court like a baseball on a rough infield.

In Tampa, Fla., Judge John Hodges dissolved a temporary injunction Thursday barring American League owners from voting on the proposed sale of the franchise. Dissolving the injunction was a technicality, because Volinn had stayed all court actions at least until he takes a look at the situation Monday.

County Executive John Spellman, faced with the possibility of a $40 million sports complex with no tenant, said the fate of the stadium depended on obtaining another team, baseball or football, to fill the Pilots' cleats.

Seattle has expressed interest in acquiring the Boston Patriots of the American Football League if the team can't find a New England home. Spellman also said he was to call somebody about a franchise Thursday, but didn't say who or what team was involved.

In Memoriam

Meunier

Deeply grateful and appreciative of the kindnesses shown by friends, neighbors and relatives in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved father, Henry Meunier, we render our heartfelt thanks to one and all. The visitations of friends, the contributions of flowers, the singing, the consoling words of Rev. Wendland, the acts of kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crawford of the Degnan - Crawford Funeral Home, all contributed to a lightening of our burden of sorrow.

The Children of Henry Meunier

Card of Thanks

Boudreau

In loving memory of our dear sister and sister-in-law, Lucille Boudreau who passed away three years ago, March 27, 1967.

God took her home, it was his will,
But in our hearts we love her still.
Her memory is as dear today,
As in the hour she passed away.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone.
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.

Mrs. Alice Runkel, Mrs. Mae Groleau, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Art Gravel, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Vallad

Boudreau

In loving memory of our dear Wife, mother and grandmother,, who passed away four years ago today, March 27, 1966.

Often a lonely heartache,
And many a silent tear;
But always a beautiful memory,
Of the one we loved so dear.
More and more each day we miss her
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly Missed by the Octave Boudreau Family

GLADSTONE

Poet Of Fairview Writes Of Easter

By MARGARET ADAMS

Fairview Manor residents are proud of their own resident poet laureate and justifiably so. Frank Pomeroy has just finished an Easter poem to ad to the collection he has written within the past few years.

Pomeroy came to Gladstone to make his home, along with the first residents at Fairview Manor, early last spring and promptly wrote a poem entitled Fairview Manor expressing his contentment in his new found home.

Frank Pomeroy

While Pomeroy says he has had no formal education beyond the eighth grade he has always been a student and scholar. He loves to read and the knowledge gained through his many years spent working in the woods near St. Jacques is expressed in several of his poems.

Writing poetry is not work for him and he says he doesn't ponder over a subject to any great length. He says the inspiration just comes to him and all he does is write it down.

A truly deep faith in God is apparent in all his poetry and in his latest poem—"An Easter Message"—he concludes:

And when we hear the call
"Come forth",
From him who knew the
pangs of being born;
We shake the dirty remnants
of the earth,
And leave our ugly tomb on Easter morn .

Pomeroy was born in 1902 and has spent most of his lfie, with the exception of 20 years working in lower Michigan, in the Upper Peninsula.

He retired about three years ago and since the death of his wife, had lived alone in a mobile home near St. Jacques. He has no children and finds the friendly atmosphere at Fairview Manor exactly to his liking. He says he enjoys spending a few hours each day playing cards or watching the large colored T. V. in the lounge.

Fairview Manor held its open house a year ago on Palm Sunday and the same friendly atmosphere present at that time among its residents is more evident than ever today.

As Pomeroy says in his Fairview Manor poem:

"We hear not disputations
As to which is mine and thine;
For here we do not force the light,
We simply let it shine."

THERE'S STILL SOME SNOW around Fairview Manor, but its senior citizen residents are looking forward to Easter Sunday and the coming of warmer weather. The home for senior citizens has a springtime orientation, for after its opening a year ago the public was invited to visit at open house held on Palm Sunday. One of the resdents is "poet laureate" Frank Pomeroy who has just completed an Easter poem. (Daily Press Photos)

Seek To Soften Restrictions On West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Western allies are hopeful that the four-power talks on Berlin which opened Thursday will lead to fewer Communist restrictions on West Berlin and its people. But what price will they have to pay for concessions?

The U.S., British and French ambassadors to West Germany met in West Berlin with the Soviet envoy to East Germany for the first such conference on Berlin since 1954. The next session is scheduled April 28.

American sources here say movement of goods and persons between West Germany and West Berlin, allowing West Berliners to go through the Wall to East Berlin, and easier West Berlin trade with Eastern Europe are the crux of what the West seeks.

Veteran observers pointed out, however, that the Russians will not give up their hold on access to the city without sizable concessions.

Nor can the Western allies be expected to yield any of their rights which may some day play a decisive role in a final German settlement.

In former years, the Russians pressed to make West Berlin what Premier Nikita Khrushchev used to call a "free city."

Gas Prices Hiked 2nd Time In Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Texaco Inc. and Phillips Petroleum Co. announced Thursday they would join Mobil Oil Co. in raising wholesale gasoline prices, and an industry spokesman said the higher costs would "definitely" be passed on to the motorist. A similar boost last year pushed prices up about a penny at the pumps.

Both Texaco and Phillips said they would increase their gasoline prices to dealers by .7 of a cent a gallon and to distributors by .55 of a cent a gallon. Mobil announced identical increases Wednesday. Gulf Oil later said it was studying the boost.

All three of the companies cited increased costs of doing business for the price hikes.

The Phillips announcement also said retail gasoline prices at the company's directly-operated service stations would be raised 1-cent per gallon. The Phillips increases are effective March 31.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Legislature Takes Recess; Bill Protested

LANSING (AP) — Bowing to heavy snows blanketing Michigan's capital, the Legislature began its Easter recess early Thursday — but not before the Senate pushed through a bill that opponents blasted as "special interest."

The measure, approved 26-5 and sent to the governor, revamps state election law to authorize rights of incumbent judges to judges who have been appointed to fill court vacancies.

Those rights include use of the term "incumbent" on the the ballot and authorization to file for election by affidavit instead of petitions.

Deadline for filing the affidavits is April 6 — explaining the haste with which the bill was moved through the Senate. Lawmakers are not due to return from their spring vacation until April 7.

Tops on the list of those who would benefit by the law is State Appeals Court Judge Robert J. Danhof, named early last year to the bench by former Gov. George Romney.

Danhof, Romney's former legal advisor and a one-time unsuccessful candidate for the appeals court, was appointed to succeed Judge Thomas Giles Kavanagh, who won election to the State Supreme Court.

Danhoff's appointed term ends Jan. 1, 1971, when he must run for the rest of Kavanagh's term, which expires Jan. 1, 1975.

Also aided by the bill would be other judges appointed to fill vacancies by Romney and Gov. William Milliken.

The Senate adjourned early Thursday afternoon after Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-Elm Hall, noted the heavy snow storm and members' wishes to begin treks home for the Easter holiday.

The House, meanwhile, had been scheduled to work in the afternoon, but Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit, announced that all absentees would, because of the snow, be excused from attendance. That action left the lower chamber with only a formal session to meet requirements and there was no floor action.

Observers counted some 25 House members on the floor of the total 110.

Henry Ford Plans Visit To Russia

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II said today he will visit Moscow April 12 at the invitation of the Soviet government to discuss Russia's auto business.

A Ford spokesman said the company has no present plans to sell cars in Russia or to build a factory in the Soviet Union, but that the Russians may be interested in such a deal.

Russia, struggling to boost its auto production—which was under 300,000 cars last year—currently has contracts with Fiat of Italy and Renault of France.

The two firms each are building a factory in Russia and will then turn the keys to the plants over to the Soviet government which will operate the facilities.

Robert Stevenson, president of Ford International Automotive Operations, said recently, "The Russians wanted us to build a duplicate of our Ghent, Belgium, plant in Russia for a certain fee but we were not interested if it was not on a continuing basis."

Easter... Traditions Date To Resurrection

Easter Sunday is celebrated by millions of Christians as the day of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ.

But what does the Easter bunny have to do with Easter? Where do the Easter eggs fit in? Rabbits don't even lay eggs.

The custom of the Easter bunny hiding eggs for children to find on Easter, comes from an age-old legend that is traced back to Germany. Folk-lore has it that during some hard times a poor woman dyed some eggs and hid them in a nest for her children to find, as an Easter Gift.

Escanaba area Easter season pictures and story by Lou Freeman of the Daily Press staff. The stained glass window, above right, is in St. Patrick's Church. The boy with the giant Easter bunny, left, is Kenny Hurkman, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hurkman of Escanaba.

When the children approached the nest, a bunny, apparently taking advantage of a ready-made nest, leaped from the nest and ran away. So the story spread that the bunny had brought the eggs.

Not A Rabbit

The first Easter rabbit was not a rabbit at all, but instead an animal known in Germany as a hare. The hare and the rabbit closely resemble one another, however the hare is described as larger than the rabbit.

The hare has been classified as a symbol of the moon, based on ideas that it's a nocturnal animal that comes out at night to feed. Also the female carries her young for a month, which represents the lunar cycle.

This association of the moon and the hare, in relation to Easter, was adopted because the date of Easter is determined by the moon.

Burrow And Tomb

Another story relates the rabbit to Easter by comparing the rabbit's burrow with that of Christ's tomb — saying that in the spring of the year the rabbit arose from his burrow and went forth, as though he, too, was resurrected.

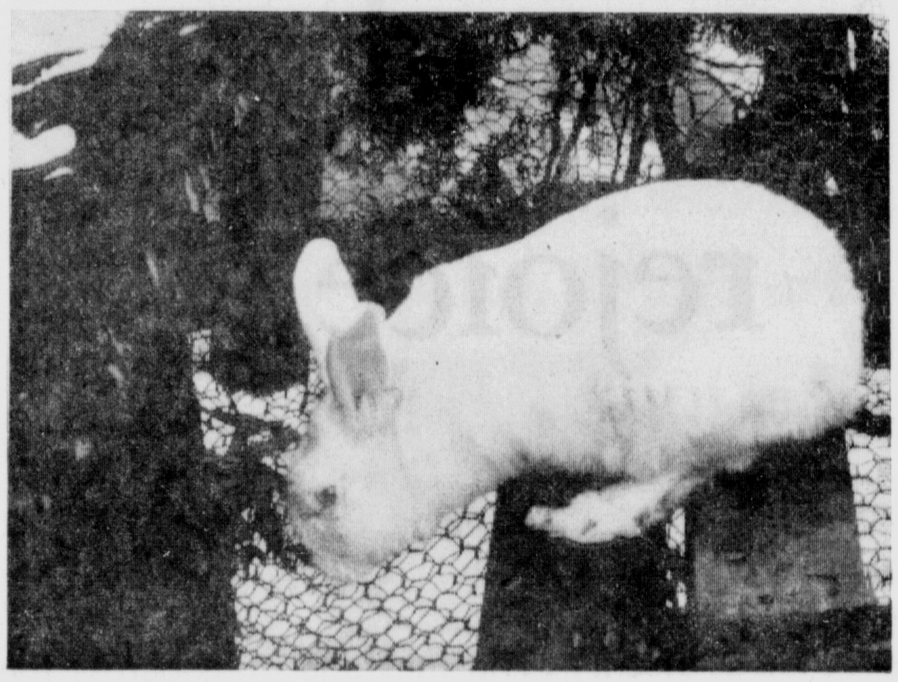

The custom of using the egg was adopted because the egg reprsented the symbol of new life, as related to the resurrection of Jesus Christ. There are many variations of this custom and most of the countries had their own versions of using the egg at Easter. People in some countries went to great lengths to elaborately decorate the eggs, others had egg rolling contests, exchanging of eggs, and many others. The most common tradition in most countries is the Easter egg hunt.

Brought To U.S.

Many of the old customs and traditions were brought to the United States and are still being practiced today.

There are similar explanations for Easter bonnets, Easter lilies, baby chicks, ducklings, and many other present day customs.

The traditions all relate back to the resurrection, the true meaning of Easter.

Florida Region Vegetable Crop Said Destroyed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Spring floods have destroyed up to half of Florida's vegetable crop, and Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner says that may cause a shortage in the nation's markets.

"The rains have flooded out the vegetable crops or rotted the roots so badly that more than 50 per cent of the spring crop is lost in some areas," Conner said Friday.

Spot checks of the area between Fort Myers and Palm Beach — which grows much of the nation's winter produce — showed that the record rainfall also has flooded pastures and killed cattle, Conner said.

Conner said he has asked the Farmers Home Administration to make available emergency low-interest loans.

Work was begun Friday to get nine counties designated as disaster areas.

Livestock sloshing through water, were reported starving in many areas despite efforts by ranchers to make up for the loss of grazing by dumping hay wherever they could find dry spots.

Klan Literature Irks PO Officials

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Post Office Box 825 in Benton Harbor, used by the United Klans of America, has been closed by postal officials.

Acting Postmaster George Westfield said he revoked the permit for the box under a regulation allowing closing of a box when there is reason to believe it is being used improperly.

Klan literature listing the box number was found on cars in some parking lots here last Saturday. Distributing advertising matter in parking lots violates a city ordinance.

Westfield said postal regulations forbid disclosing the name of the person in whose name the box was rented. However, the matter has been referred to postal inspectors, he said.

Computer Gives Doctor Headache

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit physician who found himself in a battle with an implacable computer over a 50-cent charge he didn't owe has discovered a way to fight back.

The doctor, who prefers to remain anonymous, said he first got involved when a gasoline company sent him a bill for 50 cents months ago.

He wrote back a politely worded letter advising the firm that obviously there had been some mistake — he didn't owe them a cent.

The next month, however, another bill arrived. This one was for 50 cents, plus interest, he said.

So the physician wrote another letter, this time to the computer.

"Dear machine, please give this note to a people," it said.

Another month, another bill, with additional interest.

This time, the doctor said he made a long distance phone call to the gasoline company, and that somebody at the other end of the line listened to his story and assured him things would would be straightened out.

Another month, another bill, more interest—with threatening words added, he said.

To the rescue came a computer engineer, a friend of the doctor, who told him how to get even with the computer: cut a little slot in it before mailing it back to the company.

There was no bill the next month. But the doctor's phone rang, and on the other end was a vice president of the company.

The doctor said a man screamed "You tampered with your billing card," Do you know what you've done? You have yourself a $15,000 credit. It took days to find that hole in your card. Do you have any idea what this has cost us?"

The doctor said the next words he heard were "Seven Thousand Dollars".

Peloso Fills Post On Rights Group

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Civil Rights Commission has named Thomas Peloso Jr., 48, as acting executive director, filling a post left vacant by the slaying last week of Burton Gordin.

Commission Chairman Julian Cook Jr., said a search has started for a permanent director.

Three Kings Islands, the bird sanctuary off the northern tip of New Zealand, were named after the Three Wise Men by Dutch explorer Abel Tasman, who discovered the rocky islets on Jan. 6, 1643, the twelfth day after Christmas.

Ex-Mob Leader, 4 Others Facing Long Jail Terms

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Raymond L.S. Patriarca, once identified in U.S. Senate subcommittee testimony as head of the New England Cosa Nostra, and four other men have been convicted of murder conspiracy, which carries a possible 10 year sentence.

Maurice Lerner, 33, of Brookline, Mass., was convicted also on two counts of murder in the deaths of Rudolph Marfeo, 41, and Anthony Melei, 26. They were slain April 20, 1968, in a Providence grocery store.

The verdicts were handed down Friday.

Convicted of conspiracy with Patriarca and Lerner were Rudolph G. Sciarra, 46, of Johnston, R.I., John Rossi, 29, and Robert Fairbrothers, 32, both of Providence. The state charged they conspired to kill Marfeo.
